

VIVIANO CHILDREN, TWO OF WHOM ARE HELD BY KIDNAPPERS FOR RANSOM OF $25,000

The police of all the large cities of the United States are searching for the various Italian quinquaries for Tommy Viviano, five years old, and his cousin, Grace Viviano, aged three, who were stolen from their homes in St. Louis on Aug. 1 and are being held somewhere for a ransom of $25,000. The two tots are the children of Pietro

Viviano and his cousin, of the same name, who are partners in a prosperous manufacturing business at 1436 North Broadway, St. Louis. The children were last seen by their parents when they went out with Samuel Turrisi, a relative, to get some ice cream. The following day the Viviano family received unsigned letters which demanded $25,000 for the return of the children. The letters instructed the Vivianos to leave the money near Wallston. A "plant" was made there, and the detectives watched it, but no one came to the spot in search of the money. The police of Chicago got what was considered a clew to the children, but were unable to find them. The Vivianos are natives of Palermo, and there is a colony of about 100 of their relatives in St. Louis. The kidnapping is laid to the Black Hand.
